Moozone.com is an outlet for independent artists and music to be introduced to listeners worldwide by allowing free streaming as well as “sharing music”.

Sharing music on Moozone.com is when one user who has a song in his/her private library can allow another member to stream that song but not download it. Only one member can stream any specific file from another’s library at a time. Neither can the member who owns the file play the song while another member is streaming it.
